

METHOD AND APPARATUS TO FACILITATE ESTABLISHING A DISTRIBUTED INTERNET APPLICATION PLATFORM

ABSTRACT

One embodiment of the present invention provides a system to facilitate remote access by a user to a virtual desktop on a server through a web browser. The system operates by downloading a terminal services control to the web browser. Next, the user receives a logon window from the server. After logging on to the server through the logon window the user access the virtual desktop on the server through the web browser.